As Directors of Prydis we knew we needed to assess our internal processes. We are a growing business and couldn't carry on without having formal processes. Having Jigsaw Tree help us map our desired processes ensured we focused on what good looked like and not just what we had always done. We can now see how changing our working practices is giving us consistency and efficiency throughout the business.

Managing Director, Prydis Wealth

Key Services

- Process Mapping Workshops
- Establish who does what and when
- Re-modeling of “as is” processes to best practice
- Comparison of current processes against best practice processes

Based in Exeter, Prydis Wealth is a firm of Chartered Financial Planners providing wealth management services to private clients, pension funds, Trusts and charities.

As a growing company the Directors at Prydis realised they needed to look at their internal processes to help build efficiencies within the business and to understand who was involved in the processes and at what point. Whilst they were originally looking at using Visio, Jigsaw Tree demonstrated that by using their preferred modeling software, Engage Modeler, they would get easy to understand process maps, analysis on time spent per process/per role and ultimately the average cost to the business for each process carried out.

To see where savings could be made, Prydis began the journey by holding Process mapping workshops, with Jigsaw Tree facilitating these, to map their ‘as is’ processes. By then amending processes to replicate their desired ‘best practice’ a comparison was run showing time and cost savings if new these practices were adopted.

Once the best practice processes were signed off by the business these were distributed to internal teams to ensure all members of staff’s working practices were fully aligned to best practice.
